

SHORT BIO

Why be ordinary when you can be extraordinary?

In a world of constant change and disruption it easy to feel disempowered and unengaged. Keynote speaker, MC, Workshop Facilitator and Coach, Samantha Leith is a Woman on A Mission, helping people to become truly extraordinary in their workplaces, as leaders and in their teams. She does this by working with them to develop the Confidence & Charisma needed to have people pay attention and building the Clarity & Courage needed to go after their dreams. After 40+ years on stage (she started very young) she can be described as the imaginary love child of Bette Midler & Tony Robbins.

Samantha started her working life as a professional singer and was side-tracked down the 'safer more practical' business roads. She's gone from Sales Manager, to Financial Controller, to owning her own online retail store, to hand holding business coach, musical theatre Producer, judge on the television show All Together Now and her true passion of speaking & coaching.

An unconstrained and creative thinker, Samantha believes that everybody can have the business & life of their dreams. How does Samantha know how all of this? It's simple - years of experience (success & failure) and hundreds of thousands of dollars in education and mentoring. Qualifications in Finance & Small Business Management as well as studying psychology, coaching, speaking and the online business world, give Samantha an incredible insight into what makes people and the businesses they are involved with succeed in the 21st Century.

Samantha creates a strong and immediate magnetic connection by using her vibrant communication skills as well as her intuition, capacity for immense empathy and inclusive modalities. An expert at what she does she expects the best from herself and drives others to focus on constantly bringing out the best of themselves.

Motivated and conscientious of even the smallest details she focuses on adding value every step of the way.

Conference organisers book her to speak as Samantha guarantees to Entertain, Educate and Empower every time she takes to the stage by being expressive, emotionally intelligent, energetic, generous and inspiring.

Her current Keynotes and Workshops include:

- The Sound of Empowerment
- How to have Titanium Confidence in any situation
- Creating the Clarity to say I Was Here
- Take it Step By Step to boost your Courage
- Walk into any room with the Charisma to say This Is Me
